15. Dimensions in feet:
    Length: 43 feet x Width: 26 feet
16. Number of stories: 1
17. Primary external wall material(s): Wood/Shingle
18. Roof configuration:
    Gabled Roof/ Front Gabled Roof
19. Primary external roof material:
    Asphalt Roof/Composition Roof
20. Special features:
    Porch
    Fence
21. General architectural description:
    This is a single story, wood frame, Bungalow style dwelling. Featuring a basic rectangular plan, the house is supported by a painted turquoise concrete foundation, and its exterior walls are clad with painted turquoise square-cut wood shingles. The low-pitched front gable roof is covered with green asphalt shingles, while painted white rafter ends are exposed beneath widely-overhanging eaves. Decorative purlins appear in the upper gable end, and in the upper gable end of the front porch roof, on the façade. A slightly projecting rectangular bay, with three 1/1 double-hung sash windows, is located on the east facade. Windows elsewhere are primarily 1/1 double-hung sash; however, there are also a few 1x1 horizontal sliders which are probably not original. A stained dark brown wood-paneled front door, with four upper sash lights, and with a stained dark brown wood storm door, enters the façade from an open 7' by 20' front porch. The porch is approached by three concrete steps, and features a tongue-in-groove wood floor, wood frame knee walls, twin 6” by 6” wood posts, and a gable roof. A rear entry door leads into a 7' by 20' enclosed mud porch on the south elevation.
22. Architectural style:
    Building type: Bungalow
23. Landscape or special setting features: This property is located on the south side of West 5th Street in the block between Grant and Harrison Avenues. There is a planted grass front yard, with a narrow grass strip between the front sidewalk and the street.

24. Associated buildings, features or objects:
   Garage
   A wood frame garage, which measures 20' by 12’ is located near the southeast corner of the property. This building has painted turquoise color horizontal wood siding or wood shingle exterior walls, and a front gable roof covered with brown asphalt composition shingles. The alley behind the property was vacated many years ago, so this building no longer actually functions as a garage.

IV. ARCHITECTURAL HISTORY

25. Date of construction: Estimate: Actual: 1917
   Source of information: Larimer County Residential Property Record Card; Loveland city directories; Sanborn Insurance maps.

26. Architect: Unknown
   Source of information: N/A

27. Builder: Unknown
   Source of information: N/A

28. Original owner: Sarah A. Swetnam (probably)
   Source of information: Loveland city directories

29. Construction history:
   Larimer County Assessor records list 1917 as this house’s year of construction. The property’s address (328 W. 5th Street) begins to appear in Loveland city directories in 1919, indicating that the 1917 construction date is probably accurate. Sanborn Insurance maps corroborate that the house was built sometime between 1911 and 1917. Sanborn maps also indicate that the garage was likely built between 1917 and 1927. In November 1954, owner Lewis Rankin, Jr. received a building permit to "relocate garage and add 4’ to it." Some of the home’s windows appear to have been altered at a more recent, unknown, date.

35. Historical background:

The Pickrell/Rankin House was associated with the same family for over 60 years. Its early history dates back to 1907. On July 31st of that year, the Fort Collins Weekly Courier noted the sale of a portion of Block 11, Kilburn’s Addition, Loveland, from W. G. Amoss (Amos) to George W. Foster, future Loveland Mayor, for $6,500. Ten years later, on February 23, 1917, the Weekly Courier again noted the sale of a part of this land, this time from George W. Foster to Ellen Pickrell. Miss Pickrell paid Mr. Foster $600 for her lot in the Kilburn’s Addition. According to genealogical records, Ellen Pickrell was born on September 8, 1888, near Petersburg, Menard County, Illinois. However, federal census records for 1920 (recorded when Ellen was an adult living in Loveland), show that she was then 36 years old, and had been born in Missouri, in 1884. What is undisputed, however, is that she was the youngest daughter of Sarah Ann Power Pickrell and James Pickrell. According to the genealogical records, her father passed away on November 10, 1891. A few years later, on January 17, 1893, Sarah Pickrell married her second husband, Joseph T. Swetnam (Sweetman), at Menard County, Illinois. In 1908, Sarah Swetnam and her daughters, Lola B. (born June 6, 1877), Mary O. “Mollie” (born April 2, 1879), Alma E., (born March 3, 1881), and Ellen came to Loveland from Missouri. When they first arrived in Loveland, the family lived at 210 West 4th Street. Ellen worked as a bookkeeper for W. A. Riley’s contracting business, and Mary was a teacher.

Mary Pickrell married John William Larson on October 17, 1908. A year later, on October 7, 1909, Alma married Loveland resident John Jackson, foreman of the Colorado Nursery Company. In 1918, the couple was living at 946 West 5th Street, before later moving to Boulder. On November 19, 1917, the Loveland Reporter published a brief article noting that Sarah Swetnam was granted a divorce from Joseph Swetnam, on the grounds of desertion and non-support. In the 1918 directory, Sarah and daughter Ellen are listed as residing at 510 West 5th Street. Since Larimer County Assessor’s records provide a construction date of 1917 for this dwelling at 328 West 5th Street, it is likely that Ellen and her mother moved into their new home here shortly after the information for the 1918 directory was gathered. Ellen was self-employed, supporting both her mother and herself as a dressmaker.

According to family genealogical records, on March 8, 1925, Sarah Pickrell Swetnam passed away. Ellen Pickrell continued to live in this home through the 1920s. However, Loveland directories show that during much of the 1930s, the dwelling was occupied by others. In 1931, Thomas M. Huston is listed as its resident, followed by Roy H. Walker in 1933, and Carl Wilson in 1936. By 1938, Ellen Pickrell is again listed as living here. It appears that at this time Miss Pickrell was renting out a portion of her house. Along with Miss Pickrell, in the 1938 city directory indicates that Mrs. Beth Lundy was also living here at that time; from circa 1938 to the mid-to-late 1940s, Ellen shared her home with Mrs. C. O. Woodmansee. In January 1951, Miss Ellen Pickrell passed away at a local rest home, following a lingering illness. She was 67 years old. She was buried in Lakeside Cemetery, interred next to her sister, Lola Pickrell Rankin, who had passed away in Loveland in 1948. She was survived by her sisters Mary Larson of Hastings, Nebraska, and Alma Jackson of Boulder.

Following Ellen Pickrell’s death, the property apparently was deeded to Lewis Rankin Jr., the son of Ellen’s sister Lola. Family records indicate that Lola and Lewis Rankin Sr. were married on August 2, 1899. The couple had two children, a son, Lewis, born on October 5, 1900, and a daughter Susan Jane, born June 14, 1903. Little is known about Lewis Rankin Jr.’s life. As an older adult living in Loveland, he developed quite a reputation as a tramp. In his later life, he was a loner, who spent many hours each day wandering from business to business, visiting with people and finding odds and ends to do. He reportedly always carried a road map of Illinois, which is where he told people he was from. He told stories of the days when he rode the rails and operated a trucking firm. He picked up trash along the streets of downtown Loveland, and was a fierce champion of the old train.
depot, believing it was "the greatest building in the community." In late 1979 or early 1980, Lewis Rankin Jr. was in the hospital for surgery. A social worker tried to encourage him to recuperate in a nursing home, but, independent to the end, he return alone to his home, which, according to his obituary, had not had utilities for years. Lewis Rankin Jr. was found dead in his 5th Street home on Tuesday, January 29, 1980. He was 79 years old. Despite being regarded as a "bum" Lewis had touched many people during his life, especially the merchants in downtown Loveland that he frequented on his walks. The headline of the Loveland Daily Reporter Herald on January 30, 1980 proclaimed, "Louie, a legend in Loveland, is dead." An editorial appearing the following day was titled, "We'll miss you, Louie." Ironically, it was noted that he hated being called Louie, preferring Lou or Lewis. The editorial may have said it best. Lewis "was a character - the kind of character every town should have."

According to the home’s current owner, Karla Rae Williamson, the property at 328 West 5th Street was sold after Rankin’s death to Sheri Parker. Ms. Parker was a single mother, raising her son Chad and supporting the two of them by selling real estate. According to Ms. Williamson, Chad Parker is now a teacher at Ferguson High School. Karla Rae and Steve Williamson purchased the house in 1986. Karla is now the sole owner of the property. Karla, who was raised in Fort Collins, still feels the presence of Ellen Pickrell and Lewis Rankin in her home, which she is happy to share with them.
